

Consultative Sales Rep – Arizona & New Mexico

Are you craving a career where you can make the world a better place?

BioLynceus is a life sciences company that sells microbial solutions into a variety of markets including wastewater treatment, soil remediation, and turf.

- We help Municipalities and Industrial clients treat their wastewater so that downstream flows are cleaner every day.
- We address soil issues at city parks, stadiums, and ball fields reducing the need for pesticides or fertilizers.

If you are a successful sales professional who has experience finding new accounts as well as developing and maintaining existing accounts in a B2B consultative selling environment, this is a great fit for you!

BioLynceus offers a competitive compensation package with unlimited earning potential. Medical and dental insurance 100% paid for employees.
